

FDIC Directors College

Friday, October 23rd

9:00-12:30 via Zoom

Directors College

Join Maine Bankers and the FDIC for a half day, virtual event being held via Zoom. The program will start by discussing the fundamental elements of effective board governance during uncertain times as well as the director's role in establishing and maintaining the governance framework.

We will then discuss governance in the context of problem loan oversight, including loan modifications, performance assessment, internal risk ratings, and fair lending. The program also includes a panel discussion with members of the FDIC regional management team during which they will highlight emerging issues, answer participant questions, and discuss topics raised by participants.

Finally, the program concludes with a presentation regarding the state, regional, and national economy. A session for new directors will also be offered on a subsequent date, which will provide for a smaller group setting to discuss more details about director responsibilities and address any follow-up questions from the main session.
